Grant Agreement Article I.9.5 / Grant Decision Article 9.5 - Dissemination and Exploitation of Results

... duty to ensure that the work and results receive sustainable visibility

...must pay attention to the importance of dissemination, exploitation of results... their visibility at a transnational level
Dissemination and Exploitation of Results

Beneficiary must:

- Create and maintain (at least during the project lifetime) a website for the action
- Update the project summary ...
- Provide ... the Agency and/or the Commission with the information requested in order to promote the Erasmus+ Programme and disseminate the results...
- Use Erasmus+ Project Result Platform to disseminate project results and deliverables in accordance with the instructions provided therein.

The approval of the final report will be subject to the upload of the project results/deliverables on the aforementioned platform by the time of its submission.
Dissemination and Exploitation of Results

Dissemination:
A planned process of providing information on the results of projects to key actors. It occurs as and when the results become available.

Exploitation:
a) A planned process of transferring the successful project results to appropriate decision-makers in regulated local, regional, national or European systems
b) A planned process of convincing individual end-users to adopt and/or apply these results.
Why is Dissemination and Exploitation important?

- Transparency
- Impact
- Inspiration

Summary

The aim of the proposed action is to reflect on the impact of the current instability of the EU on the citizens. The future of European integration seems to be at risk. A threefold crisis is affecting its political, economic and identity dimensions. Such an instability opens new scenarios that, on the one side, call for a closer investigation of the underlying phenomena and the actual consequences on the citizens and, on the other, raise a debate, inside and outside the academia, in relation to the possible responses. The ongoing deadlock is capable of hampering the cohesion between the Member States and distancing citizens from the Union. Financial constraints have negatively affected public expenses at the national and European level and, by consequence, consumers and citizens. Therefore, populist politicians take advantage of the situation blaming the European Union for the current economic situation and claiming for a reparation of competences. The current situation poses the Member States, and thus the Union, before a political, legal and economic conundrum: endorse the federalist solution or retreat to nationalism.

The institutional adjustments that followed the entry into force of the Lisbon Treaty have only partly provided new instruments for combating the disconnection generated by the crisis and the perceived imbalance of the Union to react efficiently to social emergencies.

From Playground to Politics: teaching the EU to Children

This project introduces children to their role as an EU citizen, shows them how European legislation works and uses new cooperative learning methods like ‘concept mapping’ to facilitate the learning process.

There is a general disparity between the knowledge necessary to understand the complexity of EU governance and the ability to be an active EU citizen.

A project in Germany aimed to teach school pupils about the EU before they reach secondary school. For this purpose the project offered primary school teachers specialised training and teaching materials, such as cases of legislation and lists of the institutions involved. This and other materials helped teachers spark interest in politics from an early age which in turn strengthened children’s idea of European citizenship.
